PVD Finish

Physical Vapour Deposition (PVD) is a series of chemical process' that bond an outer coating to an object at an atomic level.

Becoming a popular process in the later half of the 20th century PVD coatings are known for their purity and high performance, creating vibrant, long lasting, beautiful colours.

PVD Coatings are also environmentally friendly in comparison to other finishes as this process greatly reduces the amount of toxic substance released into the environment.

Electroplated Finish

Invented in the early 1800's this process is one of the most popular and commonly used. Electroplated coatings are created using electro currents to transfer one type of metal through liquid to form a protective and decorative thin coating on another.

Due to its evolution and popularity, electroplated surfaces are proven to create consistent and high quality coatings making these items readily available.

Powder Coated Finish

Powder coating is a dry finishing process used to create a hard coating that is tougher than conventional paint.

This process is ONLY used on the Eva Mini Range on the dual chrome/ white & the dual matt black/ chrome tapware in conjunction with electroplating.

Care Instructions

In order to maintain a brilliant surface use a soft cloth to remove surface dust when object is dry. Alternatively wipe over with warm soapy water.

DO NOT use harsh chemicals, detergents, citrus based cleaners or excessive pressure to clean surfaces.

Avoid using acetone silicones when installing item.
